

Discover Luxury the Western Way at Hotel Jackson

SUZANNE KOCH , JUNE 17, 2015

The first luxury boutique hotel to be built in the town of Jackson Hole in over 15 years has recently opened. Hotel Jackson, a boutique property in Wyoming is loaded with luxury amenities and accommodations. Located near Grand Teton National Park and Yellowstone National Park, this hotel is in the perfect spot for outdoor lovers.

The hotel is adorned with modern western decor like barn wood, soft leather, and hand-painted metal accents. All 58-guest rooms come with a fireplace, spa-inspired bathroom, and L'Occitane amenities. Figs, the hotel's main restaurant carries on the western luxury vibes with a two-story wood-burning fireplace. The restaurant dishes up Mediterranean inspired plates that use local Wyoming ingredients.

"We are thrilled to bring the first luxury boutique hotel to the Town of Jackson in over fifteen years," said owner Jim Darwiche, "It is our hope that Hotel Jackson, with its wonderful dining options and meetings spaces, will be a place not just for travelers, but for locals to gather as well."
